taller. "abdomen pain" never happened, but I still bleed every one year or two, and a blood clot. The nosebleed phenomenon appeared, until I got my first job. Since I have never been experienced, one year later, I went to a doctor about my physical condition. After the doctor gave me an answer: The medicine of a barefoot doctor was too fierce, causing to shrink, so the phenomenon of nosebleed is completely gone. And you will not get a nosebleed due to atrophy of the uterus.

In the summer of 1937, the Japanese army began to invade China. I was born in the winter of 1937. In November, the Japanese army had already entered Shanxi province, and the people were busy escaping.

I was born on the half way of my mother's journey. Unfortunately, my pregnant mother fell into a ditch with her vehicle. I was born that day, and I guessed that I should be a premature baby. The evidence is the phenomena that some joints can't be bent normally, which none of my friends have similar symptoms.

In the time when I was born, the food was extremely scarce and the nutrition was severely lacking. I could not get enough nutrition in my womb during birth, and I could not get enough supplements

It was only after I entered boarding school that I ate a variety of foods, my body gradually became healthy.

In 2020, I am 83 years old. I have a peaceful and healthy body. I practice the traditional Chinese fitness exercises "Baduanjin" and "Wuqinxi" every day, and value a balanced diet.

Although my doctor at that time said that it was the medicine given by the barefoot doctor that caused the uterus to shrink. I think it may be only because I was a premature delivery baby, so the uterus was never fully developed. My mother died early when she was around 35, I never asked, and I never know how premature I was when I was born.
